1. Articles submitted to the journal texts and senses must account for:

1.1 The original results culminated product research processes. At this point it is important to note that it is necessary that the structure of the document contains an introductory part, the other in which realizes the methodology used for research and one in which the results found and conclusions manifest to those I arrive.

1.2 Results of completed investigations presented from an analytical perspective, criticism or interpretation by the author of the article and the recourse to original sources.

1.3 Items can be classified into:

- Article of scientific and technological research. Document that presents in detail the original results of completed research projects. The structure generally contains the following excerpts: abstract, keywords, introduction, methodology, results, conclusions, bibliography.

- Reflection article. Document presents research results from an analytical perspective, interpretative or critical of the author, on a specific subject, resorting to original sources.

- Review article. Document completed research result which analyzed, systematized and integrated research results published or unpublished, on a field of science or technology, in order to account for the progress and development trends. It is characterized by presenting a careful bibliographic review of at least 50 references.

- Short article. A brief text presenting the original or part of a scientific or technological research preliminary results, which usually require a quick diffusion.

2. The Editorial Board of the Journal reserves the right to receive and publish some methodological notes, reviews or book reviews and brief comments on articles that have been published, as well as the responses of the author or authors of those documents.

3. The item shipping involves the author's commitment not to compromise in part or in whole or simultaneously to other publications.

4. With shipping, the writer gives the economic rights of the document, which does not imply in any circumstances the waiver of rights of authorship, but it gives the magazine the exclusive right to reproduce and distribute the article.

5. Articles submitted to the journal texts and senses can be written in English, Spanish, Portuguese or French.

6. Each article submitted must contain:

- Summary, between 180 and 200 words in Spanish, English and Portuguese.

- Title in Spanish, English and Portuguese.
- Five keywords to identify the general subject addressed in Spanish, English and Portuguese.

7. The writer responsible for the manuscript must fill out the form 'Card of the author'.

8. The articles should have maximum 15 pages in letter size. The documents must be written in 1.5 line spacing, font type lines Garamond 13 points.

9. The author in his article makes use of charts, statistics, images, photographs or other illustrations retaken document, institution or author must reference the name of each insert, its row (number) and the exact source of which it was retaken.

10. Articles submitted to the journal texts and senses must have the references according to the referral system proposed by the APA.

11. The reception of articles from the magazine texts and its publication does not imply senses because documents must undergo a process of anonymous evaluation by academic peers.

Note: texts and senses is a magazine that has a biannual basis.